Elect Next Year's Teachers

At their meeting Monday evening, the school board re-elected the Misses Carhart and Zimmerman to have charge of the school for the next year. A substantial salary increase was offered the ladies as an inducement to stay and also as appreciation of the excellence of their work during the present year. Miss Carhart has stated that she will remain, but Miss Zimmerman has not given her final answer as yet. The present year has been probably the most successful in the school history of Wrangell, and all credit is due the two ladies who have had the direction of them in hand.

Brings Up The Barnes

Captain Rastad is home again, having made the trip up from the Columbia River in safety on the Irene Barnes, the gasoline tender for the Lake Bay cannery. He reports a good trip with hardly a happening out of the ordinary.

New Bids Called For

The Post Office Department has called for new bids for carrying the mail to the West Coast of Prince of Wales Island. It appears that in the original call for bids, no mention was made of the fact that the mail boat would be expected to call at Tokcen, the new postoffice on Marble Island. As this point is more than ten miles out of the course, the new contractors objected to making the run without special compensation, so the department decided to call for new bids.

Decorating The Alaska

Frang Churchill is doing some great work decorating the interior of the tug Alaska. The main picture, in oil, is a view of the straits with the Alaska plowing along as naturally as life, towing the Garnet. Besides this there are several smaller pictures, all well done. The pictures are well worth making a visit to the boat to see.

City Dads Organize

Monday evening the new town council held its first meeting and effected organization. Of course the first matter for them to decide on was the selection of one of their number to act as chairman of the council and ex-officio mayor. Grant nominated McCormack, Sinclair nominated Wheeler, and Wheeler nominated Sinclair. The latter stated that he was not a candidate, and maintained that position in spite of the fact that both the other nominees offered to withdraw in his favor. Wheeler definitely refused to consider the nomination personally. This left but P. C. McCormack's name on the list, so a motion was made and carried that he be the unanimous choice of the council as Mayor for the ensuing year. J. E. Worden was elected Town Clerk, and L. C. Patenaude, Treasurer, the bond of the latter being fixed at $8000.00.

After a speech of acceptance, in which he expressed the hope that the work of the council during the coming year would proceed as smoothly as it has done in the past Mayor McCormack named the following standing committees: Street

Osborn, Ronneng and Sinclair.
Fire
Grant, Lewis and Wheeler.
Health, Police and Judiciary.
Lewis, Wheeler and Ronneng.
Finance
Sinclair, Osborn and Grant.
Waterworks

Grant, Lewis and Sinclair.
On motion it was decided to hold regular meetings on the first Thursday evenings of each month, at 8:30.

The report of the School Treasurer was read and placed on file, and the Judiciary Committee instructed to prepare an ordinance for presentation and consideration tonight, fixing salaries, etc., for the ensuing year.

Cannery Ship Arrives

The Star of Greenland, the cannery ship for this year, arrived yesterday morning after a quick trip from San Francisco. The vessel is a fourmasted bark, and is one of the two largest that the Alaska Packers Association owns. The cannery expects to put up over 70,000 cases of fish this year, as the market promises to be brisk owing to the expected short pack on Puget Sound.

Shakan Japanese Strike

There's trouble in sight for the management of the Shakan cannery. Part of their crew of Japanese laborers are out on strike. As is the rule in the canning business, the Orientals were contracted for in Seattle. They were shipped north and then they made the demand for a change in the contract agreement. Thirteen of them quit work. The manager refused to entertain any proposition from the strikers, and have put native women doing the work the Japs were brought for.

Visiting Wrangell Friends

Mrs. "Marshal" Grant was a passenger up on the Humboldt, and is a guest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Shurick. Mrs. Grant will probably spend the greater part of the summer here, W. D. and the two boys will be busy during the whole of the season at the new cannery at Dry Bay.

But Where's The Grouse

The boys at the mill seem to think that they have somewhat of a joke on "Andy." The latter claims that he was a mighty nimrod. Sunday, bagging all the grouse he could carry, or nearly so as he is a pretty skookum boy. From there on his story fails to hold together, as he was unable to show any of his game. He claims that somebody "swiped" them, but considerable doubt seems to exist in the minds of many as to whether he even saw a grouse.

Building River Boats

There's a new industry in town. Darby Chequette and Joe Gozad are building boats for river work, to be sold to people en route to the head of the river. Their first attempt was a success, and they turned out a very serviceable appearing craft, which by this time is probably half way up the river. They are now at work on a second, and expect to build more if the demand justifies them.

THE BOYCE-SUTHERLAND SITUATION

Juneau was treated to a peculiar sight the other evening, when, in an attempt to manufacture public sentiment in his favor, U. S. Marshal D. A. Sutherland produced what purported to be copies of correspondence passing between Capt. Jarvis and Attorney Carson. According to reports he charged up and down the stage waving what he claimed to be photographic copies of these letters, and by superhuman efforts tried to connect the names of Governor Clark, Ex-Governor Hoggatt and Shackelford & Lyons with the deal, just how, it were hard to say. He claims that the letters had been presented to Governor Clark, who refused to consider them, and whom as a result he now brands as a dyed-in-the-wool Guggenheim man.

Let us consider the matter a moment.

According to the code, it is the duty of the marshal, through the district attorney, to present to the grand juries whatever evidence he may have of ANY crime which may have come under his notice, and he is bound by oath so to do. Instead, according to Sutherland's own story, he he took the evidence to Governor Clark. He does not say when he presented the matter to Alaska's chief executive, but there can be no denying the fact that a grand jury has been in session since that time. Can it be possible that Sutherland was unable to select the right men for that jury or was he holding the evidence back for the purpose of blackmailing someone into leaving him in office? And anyway, tho' the two men may be guilty of the crime charged, tampering with or bribing a witness, what does that have to do with the fact that after investigating charges against them, Pres. Taft summarily dismissed Dan A. Sutherland and John J. Boyce?

Boyce and Sutherland realize that they have lost nice, soft positions which brought in easy money, naturally they wanted to hold on to them as long as possible, and are willing apparently to sacrifice the whole of Southeastern Alaska in their attempt to re-instate themselves. The charges on which the men were dismissed were brought by Governor Clark. This paper has faith in that gentleman's integrity and honor, and is satisfied that he was positive of the justice of his actions before he laid the charges before the President.

A PUBLIC MEETING

A public(?) meeting, inspired by one man, run by one man, in the interests of one man, was held in Wrangell last Thursday night, and that man was Al. J. Lowe.

With the elimination of Sutherland, Lowe knows all too well that his cake would be dough, as he could not hope to continue holding down his job here. So with an activity worthy a better cause, he gathered together his jurors' union and with a stray man or two besides, who were under obligations to him, whom he knew he could dominate, he was ready for the "public meeting." Arriving there, he arranged them where they would appear to the best advantage, and was ready for the performance to begin.

He seconded the nomination of the chairman of the meeting, nominated the secretary, moved the adoption of the resolutions of which he was no doubt the author, lead the disturbance when the opposition were speaking, was on his feet two or three times during the balance of the meeting, and wound up by letting the cat out of the bag, when he said that the expense of wiring the results of the meeting to Washington had been provided for. And at that he doesn't even live or have a vote in Wrangell. A fine PUBLIC meeting, wasn't it.

The first span of the steel bridge at Miles glacier, on the Copper River railway, is finished and the work of completing the balance will speedily follow. Five million pounds of steel will be used in the undertaking.

The Skagway Alaskan says that 1,500 laborers are to be rushed to the Fairbanks district in the early spring to relieve the labor shortage caused by the stampede to the Iditarod. It is expected they will go inside by way of Skagway and Whitehorse.

The Royal Northwest Mounted police force of the Yukon Territory is to have a spring clean-up. Major Zachary Taylor Wood will be transferred from Dawson to Alberta and the staff will be reduced from seventy-five to fifty men.

The proposition in question is an entire mountain of sulphur, situated on one of the Fox Islands of the Aleutian group, and known as Mount Makushin. The mountain is an old extinct volcano, and contains enough sulphur to make it practically inexhaustible.

Successfully Operated

Dr. Dawes, assisted by Dr. Shurick, performed an operation this week which in all probability will mean much to one family here in town. It was on little Harold Anderson, who had been deaf from birth, owing to the presence in his head of post-nasal adenoids. They were removed with little trouble, and the youngster promises to be able to hear as well as any one. His hearing made good it will be but a little while until he will be talking.

Return To Oregon

A. V. R. Snyder and wife were passengers south on the City of Seattle, en route to their old home state, Oregon, where they expect to spend the balance of their days. They have long been factors in the life of Wrangell, both business and social. Mr. Snyder was the founder of the weekly paper, Alaska Sentinel, which he conducted successfully for a number of years, until appointed to the position of Court Commissioner at this point. This paper understands that he will again take up newspaper work in the old home state, and hopes that success will attend his efforts.

C. A. Hebig of Fuyallup, Wash., whose son died while on a trapping trip up the Iskut, is in Wrangell, and will take the body home. The dead boy was but twenty years of age, and was supposed to be hale and hearty. He was an only son, and his death is a severe blow to his parents.

Manager "Jake" Babler of the local cannery arrived on the Humboldt, and the wheels at the cannery will now begin to revolve.

Charley Demmert and wife are over from Shakan.

F. C. Miles, much improved in health, arrived home on the Jefferson after wintering in California.

K. C. Schmidt of San Francisco, who is associated with F. W. Thompson in the store at Klawock, arrived up on the Jefferson. Mr. Schmidt is accompanied by his wife and family and will spend part of the season north.

When in need of a tombstone for your departed one, write to the Juneau Marble works, James Hogan, proprietor, Juneau, Alaska. Designs and prices furnished on application.

Patenaude carries the best in Cigars, Tobaccos, Pipes, and Smokers' supplies in general.

Famous Norwegian Dies

The Norwegians of this region, with their countrymen all over the world, are mourning the death last Tuesday of the poet Bjornstjerne Bjornson, at Paris. His writings, mostly of a socialistic nature, have been translated into almost every tongue and are wonderful illustrations of the writer's love for his fellow men.

A New Commissioner

W. G. Thomas was appointed Court Commissioner for this precinct this week, was sworn in, and is now in charge of the office. The appointment came as a surprise to many, as close to half-a-dozen had been mentioned as candidates for the office. Judge Thomas, occupied the office for several years previous to A. V. R. Snyder's appointment, resigning to take up the logging business. He has the good wishes of a majority of the people of the town who express the hope that his occupancy of the office will be satisfactory to all concerned.

Bishop Rowe conducted services at St. Philip's Church, Sunday.

The Alaska Chief came over from Shakan Saturday after a load of shingles. Last summer a large shed was built for storage purposes and roofed with one of the roofing preparations. The heavy snow of the past winter had to be shoveled off several times, and the roofing preparation was shoveled off with it. The shingles will take the place of it now.
